

FORTY NAVAL BOMBING PLANES OFF FOR DESTRUCTION CRUISE

FLIERS TO STORM OLD GERMAN SUB

Air Service Seeks to Prove Supremacy Over Other Means of Attack.

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 21.—The naval planes made short work of the former German submarine U-117 in the opening phase of the tests arranged by the government to demonstrate the efficiency of the airplane against modern warfare. The first division of seaplanes sent out to bomb the submersible fifty miles off the Cape Charles lightship sent the craft to the bottom, Commander Ellison, executive officer at the Hampton Roads Naval station, reported to the navy department on the basis of radio dispatches from the bombing squadron. The commandant of the station added to his cryptic message of the sinking that it was unnecessary to send additional planes to the scene. This ended the first phase of the bombing tests. The first report to the department did not give the number of bombs dropped by the attacking squadron or the number of hits recorded. The squadron was made up of three F-5-L type naval planes, each carrying four bombs weighing 163 pounds each. The next phase of the bombing tests will take place on June 28. Seaplanes will search for and undertake to bomb the radio controlled battleship Iowa somewhere off the coast between Cape Charles and Cape Henlopen.

OLD POINT COMFORT, Va., June 21.—Like a swarm of mosquitoes from the nearby marshes bearing death dealing "stings," scores of aircraft swept by here out to sea this morning to seek out and bomb the former German submarine U-117 in the first of a series of tests to prove or disprove the claims of the air service experts that the development of military aircraft spells the doom of surface war craft. The attacking forces today consists entirely of naval planes concentrated at the Hampton Roads naval base. It includes practically all types from the fast scouting planes to the heavy bombers. A total of 188 bombs, each weighing 163 pounds, were carried in the forty bombers included in the flight. With the former submarine undersea terror anchored fifty miles off Cape Charles with her decks awash, the initial attempt of the airmen will be to locate her. Concentric red, white and blue circles are painted on the U-boat's deck as a distinctive marking to insure the safety of other craft. With good marksmanship it was expected that the advance of the naval planes, which went out in groups, will be able to finish the target. It is arranged that should the U-117 survive the attack of the naval craft, a fleet of army planes from Langley Field would be sent out to try their hand at sinking her.

LEWIS WAGING KEEN CONTEST ON GOMPERS

(By the Associated Press) DENVER, June 21.—Campaigners for both John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and Samuel Gompers, candidates for president, were working at top speed today when the sessions of the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor were resumed. Supporters of the candidates were busy throughout the night and conferences were held that are reported to have changed considerably the lineup of both sides in the contest. Both candidates expressed confidence of victory, declaring that they had been pledged sufficient votes to win. Their claims, however, conflict, and no accurate estimate could be made of the votes that each probably will receive. The election, labor leaders said, would be made a special order of business for next Friday afternoon.

RUSH BUILDINGS FOR TUBERCULAR

Three Sanatoriums With big Cost to be Used by State's Infirm.

(By the Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, June 20.—As rapidly as the work can be done, Oklahoma's three tuberculosis sanatoriums are being completed and equipped for the reception of patients, according to announcement today of Dr. A. R. Lewis, state health commissioner. The Eastern Oklahoma sanatorium near Tahleah, is complete with the exception of equipment and the construction of a power house which will furnish heat and light. The special session of the Eighth legislature appropriated $75,000 for the construction of this plant, for equipment of the sanatorium and maintenance for the next two years. Equipment has been ordered and it is expected the institution will be formally opened October 1. Dr. Long now at the head of the tuberculosis bureau of the state board of health, has been named superintendent of the sanatorium.

The Western Oklahoma sanatorium, at Clinton, will not be ready for use until next January, Dr. Lewis said. Several buildings there are yet to be completed. For their construction, equipment and maintenance, $206,000 was appropriated. No superintendent has been named. The Boley sanatorium, for negro patients, will be ready for opening in August. In the emergency created by the recent Tulsa riot, six patients from that city were sent to the Boley institution, but provision for their care was of temporary nature. Dr. J. D. Nelson, a negro physician of Boley, is superintendent. Fifty thousand dollars was appropriated by the last legislature to complete and maintain the institution.

Applications are now on file, Dr. Lewis said, which will fill every bed in all three sanatoriums. Eastern and western sanatoriums each is to be equipped with 100 beds, the Boley sanatorium with fifty. The state sanatoriums were designed especially for the care of patients who are financially unable to seek climatic changes, or to pay even for hospital attention, the health commissioner explained. They will be cared for at a charge of $10 a week, which will include both board and medical attention. When patients or their relatives are unable to pay the expense, superintendents of the institutions are authorized to accept patients whose expense will be paid for by the counties from which they come. Arrangements also will be made to care for patients who can pay for more personal attention. As many as ten cottages, at each sanatorium will be erected for private patients.

The Eastern Oklahoma sanatorium is on top of a mountain near Tahleah, situated among pine trees, at an elevation of 2,000 feet above the sea level. Pure mountain spring water, run by gravity pressure from a neighboring mountain, will constitute the water supply. Open-air pavilions also are provided at Clinton and Boley. The Clinton institution has an elevation of 1,800 feet, and that at Boley, 1,000 feet.

FEDERATION TO MEET AT SHAWNEE SEPT. 19

(By the Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, June 21.—The eighteenth annual convention of the Oklahoma Federation of Labor will be held September 19 at Shawnee, according to a call issued here today by Edgar Fenton, president, and Victor Purdy, secretary-treasurer. The convention will continue in session until all the business before it is disposed of, the call states. According to the federal ruling, which is quoted in the call, each central labor body is entitled to one delegate and each local union to have the same representation for each 50 members or major fraction thereof, upon taxes per capita paid up to September 1. Unions having less than 50 members are entitled to one delegate, it is stated. The announcement does not indicate what matters will be before the convention.

EVANGELIST WILL REACH ADA TODAY

Dr. Dawson Wires He Will Be at Baptist Revival Service Tonight.

Good crowds Monday morning and night attended first week-day services of the Baptist revival and increased attendance today is expected to greet Dr. J. M. Dawson, pastor of the First Baptist church at Waco, Tex., who will conduct the meeting here.

Dr. Dawson, who was expected to arrive Monday afternoon in time for the services Monday night, was delayed by an important meeting of the board of directors of Baylor University, according to a telegram received yesterday afternoon by Rev. C. C. Morris, local Baptist pastor. R. O. Allen, Shawnee, who will conduct the singing for the revival, arrived yesterday and last night made his own introduction to the crowd.

Dr. Dawson assured Rev. Morris in his telegram Monday that he would be in Ada Tuesday in time for the meeting Tuesday night without fail.

In the absence of the evangelist, Rev. Morris preached at the service Monday on the topic "The Wages of Sin Is Death." He pointed out by a number of examples the prompt payment policy carried out by sin and its certain rewards for individuals as well as nations. Striking instances in the lives of famous men, such as Alexander the Great, Edgar Allen Poe, and others were cited as examples of sin's payment.

Two big choirs, a senior choir and a booster for the children, have been organized by Mr. Allen and will furnish music for all services. It is possible that one night of the services this week will be turned over to the Booster choir, Allen announced. Allen, who accompanies the singing with trombone music, is considered one of the best choir directors ever secured to handle music for a revival meeting here.

Petition for Wage Cut Is Thrown Out By Federal Board

(By the Associated Press) CHICAGO, June 21.—The Coleman company lost its open shop fight before the United States labor board today when the board upheld the contentions of the union leaders that the company had not obeyed "the letter and spirit" of the transportation act when it conferred with its employees in mass meetings. The board threw out the company's petition for a cut in wages of its shop employees and instructed it to go back and meet the "duly elected representatives" of the employees.

In The Oil Fields

Drilling on the Transcontinental well, on the Cotton farm inspection 14-5-4, close to Maxwell, had reached 1780 feet last night and sand is expected at 1850 feet. When bailers were pulled out, gas emitted the well. The 10-inch casing is down 1757 feet, according to those who returned from the well this morning, and drilling has just passed through 61 feet of blue shale into a black shale.

M. E. Malone, W. R. Davis and Mr. Hibbs of Tulsa were here yesterday and went to inspect the well. The Transcontinental district manager arrived from Shawnee yesterday and is directing the building of the first 1000 barrel tank. The Producers Oil and Refining company, drilled west of town in the NW, NW of 6-3-6 is now down to 500 feet. They struck a showing of oil at 285 feet when they went into a two foot bed of sand. A 15-inch casing is now being put down which will allow drilling to go as deep as 2,000 feet.

PLANE IN SMASH THEN IS BURNED

Naval Seacraft Makes Forced Landing and Crew Escapes.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The naval seaplane N C-7 was wrecked and burned after a forced landing in Hampton Roads, Virginia, today, but all members of the crew were rescued uninjured, according to a telephone report to the navy department. The aircraft was not a bomb carrier, the report said. The first report failed to show the cause of the landing or fire, naval officers at Hampton Roads said.

Naval officers stated that the N C-7 was a big ship of the same kind as the N C-4, the first heavier-than-air craft to cross the Atlantic. They said she probably crashed observers bound out to witness the bombing test by a naval fleet against a former German submarine off the Virginia capes. She was not scheduled to take part in the bombing.

PIRATES CAPTURED CREW OF SHIP SET ADrift, BOTTLED NOTE SAYS

CONFIDENCE MAIN HOPE FOR FUTURE

Bankers Say That Financial Depression lies in Mind of Public.

Highest optimism over the present financial condition, and especially over the outlook for relief in all lines of business, was expressed today by leading Ada bankers in summing up the general trend of times.

Although all agree that relief must come generally and cannot spring entirely from local sources anywhere, they believe that with the coming of fall and the harvesting of crops "financial depression" is "most, in fact practically all of our 'hard times,' are on paper only. We have heard it said that money is close and the market is off. Our believing the worst instead of the best is what has occasioned this 'depression,' one local banker declared.

Practically all Ada bankers are agreed that once the cattlemen's loan of $50,000,000 has passed, ranchers and stockmen of this section of the country will again be on the wave of better times. Many cattlemen have been almost fatally struck by terrific reductions recently in the prices of livestock. Some have mortgaged their ranches and mortgaged their herds to tide them over in business until another year, hoping that conditions would become more promising and that prices again would seek something like their own level, bankers said.

Bankers here are agreed that the explanation of present "hard times" lies in a lack of confidence on the part of the general public.

Why I know one farmer in this county who said he didn't trust any bank. He hoarded his money and cashed it away in an old stocking which he hid under his mattress every night. He had no faith in the country or in the people. Then one night his house caught fire. In his hurry to carry out personal belongings, the farmer and his wife forgot their "deposit-bed." Their savings for months, amounting to $451, went up in smoke. Such foolish action as this one the part of many people, uninformed on the reliability of their own financial institutions, is what brings the country to so-called "financial straits," he asserted.

"If that same farmer had trusted himself, his neighbors, the public, and the banks he would have put this surplus $451 out on interest. That money would have helped two other farmers raise crops. This luckless man would have felt better all the time over his investment and when the blow came he would have been riding high above the water, with something still left for a reserve."

Big business ventures in Ada have done much to combat unemployment here and consequently to stabilize the local financial situation to a great extent, bankers and business men believe.

Note—Tomorrow the News will print statements from each of the leading bankers of the city on their own opinions of the present situation.

CAST IN STRENUOUS TRAINING FOR SHOW

Rehearsals now being held night and day are bringing out some remarkable talent which will be displayed at the Elks' Charity Fund Minstrel here June 29 and 30, according to Harry Ennis, director.

Individual training for the various acts and specialties has been carried forward this week and practically every character in the minstrel is working to make his part stand out as the leading role, those who have seen practices say. One of the characters made a trip to Oklahoma City last week purposely to have his voice "manicured" for the performance, a statement from the director indicates.

Business Manager J. C. Gowing announced today that Jim Stott was in training for his burlesque fight for the minstrel and J. T. Roff "the sweet voiced" tenor, will sing. His solo-duet will be "If I Were Caruso, I Would Be a Shining Star."

Jim Norman, Con Roach, G. W. Braly are others who are slated to carry "heavy" roles in the minstrel.

SUB CHASER WAS OUTLAW, BELIEF

Two Vessels Thought to Have Been Captured by Same Ship.

(By the Associated Press) PORTLAND, Maine, June 21.—The theory that pirates are afloat in the north Atlantic has found credence with the establishment of the fact that the message found in a bottle picked up two months ago north of Cape Hatteras, purporting to explain the disappearance of the crew of the schooner Carroll A. Deering, was written by Henry Bates of Islesboro, Maine, a member of the crew. The question of its genuineness was settled by handwriting experts.

The unsigned note states that the schooner was captured by an oil burning craft, something like a sub chaser, that the members of the crew, who were hiding over the ship with no chance of escape were being handcuffed and that everything was being taken off.

The department of commerce and other government agencies are working on the theory that the oil steamer Hewitt, which disappeared in the same locality at about the same time while bound from Texas to Boston, was captured by the same pirate crew. Mrs. Willis B. Wormell of this city, wife of the captain of the Deering, and friends, urged the investigation at the department of commerce. The missing crew consisted of 12 men beside the captain.

The Deering was bound from South America. She was found undamaged with all sails set on the outer shoal off Cape Hatteras on the morning of January 31.

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 21.—A worldwide search for the missing crew of the schooner Carroll A. May Repeal Luxury Tax as Result of Low Expenditures

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 21.—Federal expenditures for the fiscal year beginning July 1 should fall below $3,500,000,000 it was declared in the house today. On that basis, it was added, congress would be able to repeal the excess profits, transportation, "obnoxious" luxury taxes, reduce the higher income taxes and conserve nothing but economy. Revenues were estimated for the coming fiscal year at four billion dollars.

YOUNG ADA SOLDIER DIES IN PRESCOTT

A message from Prescott, Arizona to Mrs. Orville Snead today announced the death of Ernest Broughton of this place. The young man contracted tuberculosis while in the army in France and has gradually sunk since. His father, L. F. Broughton of Portland Park, was with the son at his death.

The deceased was well known here where he grew up. He was a moral and religious young man and the pride of his parents. The father rushed to him only a few days ago, reaching Prescott a short time before death occurred. The war record of the young man was wonderful. He was in several battles and was awarded the victory medal with 3 gold stripes. Since he has been out of the service, Mrs. Snead has been giving him attention, through her work with the Red Cross.

THE TOBACCO PROHIBITION MOVEMENT AT A GLANCE—BLACK STATES STILL RETAIN ANTI-TOBACCO LAWS—FIGURES INDICATE PERCENTAGE OF EDITORS IN EACH STATE WHO BELIEVE THEIR COMMUNITIES AGAINST ABOLITION.

MAKING 400 CIGARETTES A MINUTE BY MACHINERY—A MODERN CIGARETTE FACTORY IS AS CLEAN AND SANITARY AS THE MOST EXACTING HOUSE WIFE'S KITCHEN.

"IS TOBACCO going to have its scalp added to the belt of the prohibitionist beside that of the lamented but as yet not altogether late alcohol?" is the question asked by Garret Smith in an article in the current issue of "Leslie's Magazine."

The writer reaches the conclusion that while there has been increased agitation and legislative activity on the subject of tobacco following the success of the drive for prohibition of liquor the efforts of reformers seeking to abolish tobacco have no general support. This opinion is based largely on the results of a questionnaire on the subject sent out to newspaper editors of the country by the Press Service Company of New York City.

Discussing other arguments against tobacco prohibition, he says users of the weed point to its long continued and almost universal use at the present time.

"Discovered first by Columbus in 1492 as an American weed smoked by the Indians—it was a botanical curiosity in Europe for nearly one hundred years," he continues. "Then, with its introduction into England by Sir Francis Drake and Governor Lane of Virginia and its popularizing by Sir Walter Raleigh, it sprang into general use."

"They point out that even at that time there were prohibition movements against tobacco; one of the strongest being led by an English King. Yet those movements never got anywhere. They say it is significant, in comparing the possible fate of tobacco with the fate of alcohol, that in those early days of anti-tobacco agitation no one yet dreamed of prohibiting liquor.

"They point out, too, the strongly entrenched economic foothold of tobacco in the United States, which is the chief tobacco country of the world today with an acreage of nearly 2,000,000, representing a land investment of over $160,000,000 conservatively estimated. This acreage has more than doubled in the last fifteen years. The total value of the 1920 crop was $298,001,000, being the value of 1,508,064,000 pounds produced that year at the average farm price of 19.8 cents a pound. This does not take into account the large investment in plants for manufacturing and distributing the finished product, for which there are as yet no official figures. There were, however, produced during the year 8,304,618,762 cigars, 30,408,827, 557 cigarettes and 453,482,919 pounds of pipe tobacco and snuff.

"Of course, those who favor prohibition of tobacco discount these arguments by the statement that the use of tobacco parallels that of liquor in that the use of liquor was at one time as widespread and universal but was more strongly entrenched in that it dates back before the dawn of civilization. They say further that the investment involved in the United States in the liquor business was fully as great as that now in the tobacco business."

The questions asked in the questionnaire to the newspaper editors were:

- (1) Do you favor the enactment of laws prohibiting the personal use of tobacco by adults?
- (2) In your judgment does the general sentiment of your community favor such legislation?
- (3) Is the use of tobacco personally objectionable to you?

No arguments accompanied the questions and from their form it was impossible for any editor to determine the attitude of those seeking the information. Out of 12,518 editors questioned, 7,847 replied according to the summary given. These editors represent a combined circulation of 21,870,048. This shows an extraordinary interest in anti-tobacco legislation. Of the 7,847 editors replying, 7,393, or 95 per cent, represent public sentiment in their communities as opposed to anti-tobacco legislation. Only 200 editors, or 3 per cent of those replying, believed there was any considerable sentiment favorable to tobacco prohibition. There were 174, or 2 per cent, in doubt, while 20 failed to record their judgment.

"It is of special interest to note that 509 editors, in answering the first question, personally favored such legislation, although only 200 of them reported that public opinion also favored the prohibition of tobacco—an indication of the conscientious effort made by the editors to distinguish public opinion from their own personal opinions," the article continues.

"The highest percentage of replies reporting public opinion favorable to prohibition of tobacco came from Utah, where 42 per cent of the editors thought that the public were for such a movement. Utah is the only state which has since adopted an anti-cigarette law. The result was forecast by several of the editors, who stated that the influence of the Mormon Church was against tobacco. The Mormon Church is also strong in Idaho, which is the other state where the use of tobacco was recently prohibited, but the governor has signed the bill just passed, in which the prohibitory legislation is repealed. In this state 89 per cent of the editors estimate sentiment in their communities as against tobacco prohibition, which, nevertheless, is six per cent below the average reported opposition.

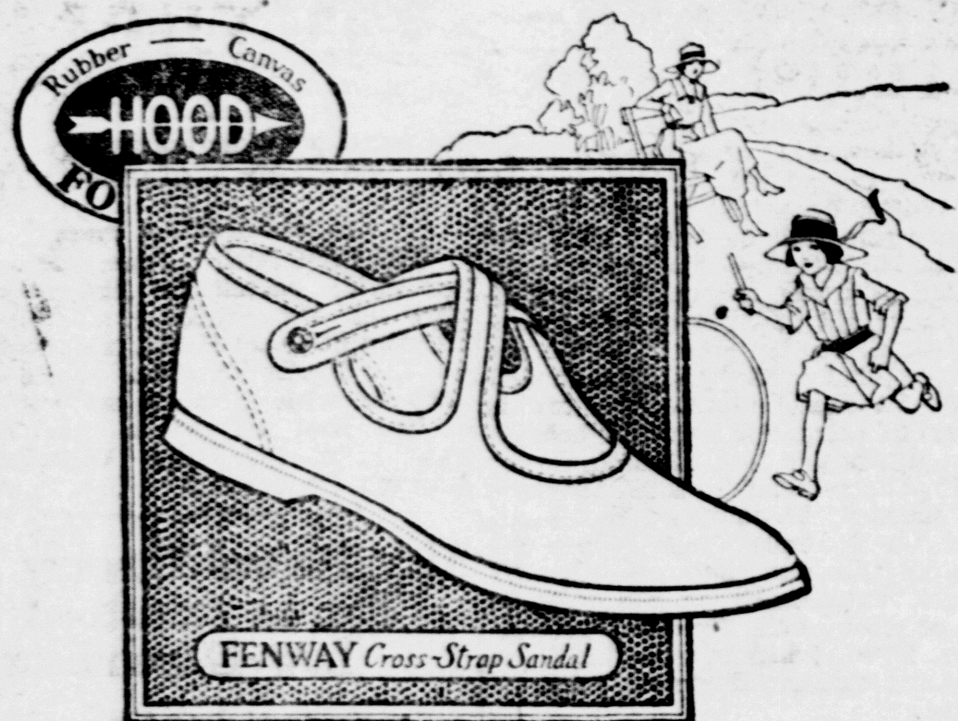

"The legislature of Tennessee some weeks ago passed and the governor has signed a bill repealing the Anti-Cigarette law of that state. The questionnaire showed 89 per cent of its editors believed the public against anti-tobacco legislation. The legislature of Arkansas has also just passed a bill repealing its Anti-Cigarette law. In this state 94 per cent of the editors reported against tobacco prohibition.

"A bill, introduced in the current session of the legislature of Arizona to prohibit smoking in public dining rooms and other public places, was first amended to prohibit the consumption in public of peanuts, chewing gum, tea and coffee, and then defeated by the senate. The questionnaire returns from that state were 92 per cent 'no.'

"In Iowa where the 'no's' were 95 per cent a bill to repeal the Anti-Cigarette law has been passed and signed by the governor.

"A bill to repeal the Anti-Cigarette law in Kansas, with 89 per cent of 'no's,' is receiving the attention of its legislature. Last year a petition for a referendum in Oregon to prohibit the use of tobacco failed of sufficient signatures to bring the question to a vote, and 95 per cent of the editors declare their public against the legislation. In Oklahoma an anti-cigarette bill has been reported unfavorably in the house. The editors of the state reported 94 per cent against its public support.

"Outside of Utah, where Mormon influence predominates," the article concludes, "the anti-tobacco movement appears, as in the case of Tennessee, Arkansas and Iowa, to be losing ground and is not to any considerable extent supported by the people."

John G. Emery, the new national commander of the American Legion hails from Grand Rapids, Mich. He was born on the Fourth of July, forty years ago. His election, which was by acclamation of the National Executive committee, took place at the national headquarters at Indianapolis. At the same time Thomas J. Bannigan of Hartford, Conn., was elected vice commander, succeeding Mr. Emery, who now fills the vacancy caused by the death of F. W. Galbraith, Jr.

Mr. Emery is a real estate operator. He has served as president of the Grand Rapids Real Estate board and as one of the commissioners of that city. He is president of the first division club. His military record dates from his entrance to the second officers training camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill., August 27, 1917. He attended various schools in France and was assigned to the 18th Infantry of the first division. He commanded F company of this regiment in the Montdidier-Noyon and Aisne-Marne offensive and became a major September 1, 1918, following the St. Mihiel and Argonne offensives. He was severely wounded by shell fire October 9, and was immediately sent to the United States. He was discharged from the hospital and from the army March 31, 1919. He has been active in American Legion affairs ever since.

Mr. Bannigan, the new vice-commander, has served as adjutant of the Connecticut department of the American Legion three years. During the war he served as a captain. He is a member of the Legion's national committee on war risk insurance and compensation.

Takes Reunion Grounds.

Reunion grounds of the Blue and Gray association of Western Oklahoma with all buildings and equipment valued at several thousand dollars, which have been used by veterans of the civil war for many years, will become the property of the American Legion on September 1. Transfer of the property, located at Bridgeport, was effected last week when Edward F. Carpenter, commander of the Bridgeport Legion post and Earl Bacon, commander at Hinton, signed the necessary papers.

In recognition of the transfer the two posts have asked the department executive committee of the American Legion to designate the grounds as official reunion property of the Legion in the western section of the state.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

How Much Should You Pay For a Fine Car?

So far as prices are concerned, the Paige 6-66 is quite obviously the greatest dollar-for-dollar value on the American market. It is not only legitimately priced, but it is actually selling for from one to three thousand dollars less than its nearest competitors.

We respect this competition but as business men must insist that the discrepancy is altogether unjustified. Unless 6-66 prices are vastly increased, the higher priced cars must ultimately reduce. This appears to be the only fair and sensible conclusion.

At any rate, please consider this one fact: You can today buy a Paige car with a sense of absolute security because you are buying on the new readjustment level. There can be no sudden depreciation of your investment—no "price cuts" to meet competitive standards.

Paige is at rock bottom in price and peak position in quality. For that reason it is a safe, sane and profitable investment.

Civilization's Greatest Achievement

Some Eskimos were brought down to Edmonton, Alberta, on official business.

They had never before been south of the Arctic Circle.

They had never seen a street, a town, a window, or a wooden door. A bed, a water tap, and an electric light produced completely new sensations. Street cars were unknown to them; telephones unheard of; trains not to be believed even when beheld.

They had never seen an automobile until someone took them riding in one. They had never set their eyes on an airplane until someone did his most daring stunts in one to thrill them. They had never even seen a movie!

But what do you suppose moved them most in the whole bag of tricks which civilization produced for their amusement and amazement?

What seemed to them the greatest wonder of all?

The cold storage plants!

The White Man didn't always have to hunt and fish when he wanted to eat!

Here was civilization's greatest gift, its greatest benefaction.

This feature of civilization makes it possible for Swift & Company, in the season of over production, to store a supply of food for distribution in the season of scant, or non-production. Thus we are able to maintain for all a constant supply of such choice and necessary foods as Premium Milk-fed Chickens, Brookfield Butter and Brookfield Eggs.

PARTY IS HERE TO START RURAL MEET

Luncheons and Games Planned to Relieve Heavy Work.

After having completed their three day conference at the Alva State Normal, the McBryan party, working under the auspices of the government rural education division, arrived in the city today and will hold their first meeting in the Normal auditorium Wednesday morning at 9:30.

It is expected that these meetings will be well attended and the problems of rural life and ways and means by which it can be bettered will be discussed by experts, who have put their theories to the test with remarkable success. Rural teachers and leaders in the rural communities will be especially interested in these lectures.

To break the monotony of straight lecture courses, three of which will be given each day, special features have been prepared, one of the most important of which will be community singing, lead by noted teachers from Ada and other points. There will also be several special agents of the government here with features of interest.

Conference luncheons will be served at noon each day of the rural life conference here. After luncheon speeches promise to be among the leading features of the meeting. Mass games and field meets for the community will be discussed by Captain Frank Wyatt of Alva, Okla., who has had considerable experience in this work.

The farmers' union rally day will be observed at the Normal Thursday. At this time the president of the farmers' union will be present and deliver an address. A business meeting of the representatives of the different unions in the county and district will be held in the afternoon. Three meetings each day will be held, at 9:30 a. m., 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. All who are interested may attend.

PAINS IN SIDE AND BACK

Caused by Woman's Ills and Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Grafton, Pa.—"I was troubled with inflammation and pains in my sides and back. After doctoring with different doctors and not getting relief, I had almost given up hopes when my sister told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and, knowing that she had really been helped by it, I purchased it. I was unable to do my work at that time, but after taking several bottles of the Vegetable Compound I can now do anything about the house or farm that a woman should do. I have a four months old baby that is the healthiest and biggest baby for his age that I have ever seen. I am willing for my letter to be used for a testimonial to tell other suffering women how much your medicine has done for me, as I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all the praise."

—Mrs. BLAIR L. FISHER, R. D. 1, Box 37, Grafton, Pa.

Working early and late—lifting, carrying, and the heaviest of household duties—is it any wonder that it results in backaches and kindred ills. But every woman who suffers as Mrs. Fisher did should profit by her experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

Old Party Games Played at Mixer for Summer Term

Students and faculty members mingled at the Normal last night when the faculty members entertained the entire student body with the annual mixer on the campus.

The guests began arriving at an early hour and were met at the entrance by the reception committee. A general introduction was held at which time all were given a chance to meet each other in a formal way. Specialists, including the grand march, the dancing of the Virginia Reel and many other interesting events were featured. After more than an hour of fun on the campus all were called to the gym where they were divided in groups to play various games. Refreshments were served.

Those who were present at this enjoyable event were unanimous in their voting it to be one of the best school socials in history. The faculty lived up to their reputation as royal entertainers and at no time during the evening was anyone allowed a moment of discomfort or displeasure.

To the many good people who so kindly remembered and assisted us in our hours of sorrow over the death of our son and brother Lenore House, we wish to extend our most heartfelt thanks and hopes that similar griefs to them may be long deferred.

A Fund of Information That You Should Have

DISRAELI, who for six years was prime minister of England, said: "It has been my observation that the most successful man in any undertaking, is the man who has the most information."

It doesn't require any particular information just to go out and buy something. But to buy the best of that something at a price that is satisfactory to you—that is a successful purchase. And to make successful purchases you must have information.

Advertising gives you just that kind of information. It tells you where to go in order to get the best of anything you want at a fair price.

That is why it is a paying proposition for the man or woman who handles a pocket book to study the advertisements in this newspaper—regularly—every day.

To those who use it properly, newspaper advertising is a source of economy and satisfaction that never runs dry. It is a watch-dog of dollars—a guarantee of satisfaction.

If you would learn the facts about the things you need to make you comfortable and happy.

Paying will start in Ada in a few days. The lamentable part of the affair will be when it stops.

What would you call President Harding's attitude towards Mexico, if it is not "watchful waiting?"

If general rains over the Southwest means no hot winds, we shall certainly not have any this summer.

The results of Saturday night would indicate that a round-up does not necessarily mean a round-up of cattle.

When the Turk and the Russian bolshevik lie down together, what will happen? It will not be the lion and the lamb.

Some cities make fun of Ada's oil boom, but we notice that none of these towns have any oil. So far as present activity is concerned, any town in any oil field is not unusually active, due to the low price of oil. Watch Ada move out in a few weeks.

Would-be candidates for governor are sending out feelers. Both democrats and republicans are anxious for the nomination. We suggest that no mud-slinging be indulged in by either party in the primaries. One of the things that has injured the democratic party in this state probably more than any other one thing is the attempt to discredit the nominee before he becomes a nominee and that by the members of his own party. Let all the facts come out, but keep away from falsehoods and false insinuations.

LOOKING AHEAD.

"Looking ahead," says Mr. Theodore H. Price in the current issue of his publication, Commerce and Finance, "we see nothing to shake the conviction that the cotton industry is gradually approaching a period of extraordinary activity and prosperity. It can be only a question of time before the demand for textiles to meet current needs and replace supplies exhausted during the war and the period of deflation which has marked the preliminary stages of reconstruction, must develop. It will do so, just as soon as the world can do anything more than live from hand-to-mouth and that it will eventually mean a time of great expansion in manufacturing facilities and raw material requirements, seems to us inevitable."

We think that Mr. Price's confidence is justified. It is, as he says, "only a question of time," however, and that is just another way of saying that it remains to be seen at what rate improvement will come. There can be little doubt that once a certain stage of readjustment is reached in the world and something approaching confidence and certainty is restored, we shall witness the opening of a period of genuine prosperity throughout the world. Meantime the immediate future is not quite as dark as it has been and we may expect progressive improvement.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

MEXICAN OIL

That the importation of Mexican oil is having a bearish tendency on the market for American oil goes without saying. The importation of millions of barrels of crude oil a month, in addition to the increased production in the mid-continent field, could have but one effect and that is the lowering of the price. Sooner or later this means production will slacken and the price will pick up. The cost of production in the Mexican fields is so low, however, compared to the cost of production in Oklahoma and other southwestern states that the southwestern operators need protection.

At the same time, every encouragement should be given American investors who want to purchase Mexican oil property and the American government ought to see that these investors are protected. It is evident to the observer that the Mexican people will not for many years develop the oil properties. It is evident also that somebody will develop them. This means that the Mexican oil fields will be developed by Americans or by other foreign investors. It is to the advantage of our shipping, our industries and possibly the very army and navy itself that American citizens control at least the major part of the Mexican fields.

One has but to recall that the consumption of crude petroleum increased in ten years from 200,000,000 to 500,000,000 barrels to realize how soon the American fields will be drained. Our merchant marine is fast going to oil burning engines. It takes years and fortunes to develop an oil field, and no time should be lost in getting control of some of the Mexican property. The country which controls the world's supply of petroleum may control the commerce.

Comments given below do not of necessity reflect the opinion of the News. In fact, oftentimes the opinion expressed is directly opposite to that held by the News. The opinions are given, however, because this is a newspaper.

"Let George Do It."

McAlester News-Capital: Everybody agrees that the country is suffering from a great building shortage.

Everybody agrees that there is something radically wrong some where, when the great need for buildings of all kinds cannot be met although there are millions of men unemployed.

When it comes to fixing the blame for this ridiculous condition of things, there seems to be very great difference of opinion.

Some charge it to the high price of steel; some to the high prices of other building materials; others to the high wages demanded by labor.

Every fellow wants the other fellow to "liquidate" and is quite sure that if he would do so there would be an immediate building boom.

The employers and material men are beginning to quarrel among themselves as to which class among them is the greater profiteer.

The steel men have finally turned on the other material fellows and have given out some very interesting figures. They show that on May 1, of this year structural steel prices showed an advance over May 1, 1913, of 43 per cent an advance of 165 per cent, lime 206 per cent and cement 96 per cent.

The employees in the building trades, who are disinclined to have their wages drastically deflated, seem to have nothing on these building chaps.

The 43 per cent increase is not so much out of line, everything considered. But advances ranging from 96 per cent to 206 per cent make the so-called labor profiteers look like pikers.

Very properly the Boston News Bureau, a leading financial daily, asks: "Has there been deflation-docking in building materials as well as in building trades labor?"

The Passing of "Boss" Government.

Muskogee Phoenix: Mark Sullivan, foremost among America's political students, telegraphs from Washington, that the party leadership and party loyalty of the good old days is on the wane; that party discipline is little more than a reminiscence and that in the stead of party unity there has arrived a new division of power. The farmers cast their votes as one, the labor sympathizers stand together, the prohibitionists vote in accordance with their prohibition doctrines. The situation, Mr. Sullivan remarks, is "viewed with alarm."

Mr. Sullivan, of course, is speaking for the party men in Washington. There can be no doubt but that our senators and representatives no longer blindly follow the dictates of their "bosses." Few indeed are those in our national capital today who would not deeply resent receiving word that "Mr. Aldrich desires that the measure be defeated." It was proper in the old days; more, it was considered disloyalty to party to ignore such instruction.

Today our representatives demand the right and privilege of thinking for themselves. Disintegration of party power and organization could, no doubt, be carried to such extremes that legislative chaos would result, but most assuredly we may find considerable satisfaction in Mr. Sullivan's report that the boss method of government has passed.

MILES OF OVERALLS ARE USED IN STATE MONTHLY

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 21.—Material for overalls consumed monthly to meet the demand of the state, would, if made into one pair, require a giant eight miles high, with a waist measurement of two and a half miles and legs two miles long to fill them, according to an estimate of local jobbers. It requires 50,000 pairs of the garments, representing in raw denim 155,000 yards or $175,000, they added, to supply the monthly needs.

LONG SUIT COATS ARE FORECAST FOR WEAR NEXT SEASON

The outstanding feature of the new suits for the coming fall is the length of the coats. It is much too early to seriously consider the fall suit, but when one of the leading makers of the country showed his line, which is ready for fall, this model was seen among them, and it is only indicative of all the new suits with its long, slightly-fitted coat.

The Negroes' 57th Birthday.

Fifty-seven years in the history of a nation counts but little as mere time is reckoned. But fifty-seven years of utilized opportunities and the developed moral and mental status of a people means much in the making of a race.

A half century ago the gate between bondage and liberty was opened. A new people walked with trembling feet, the unfamiliar paths of manhood, with their faces turned toward the horizon of uncertainties, best by human weaknesses, unmanned by ignorance, striving against foes within and foes without, the shuttlecock of the continent, this child of destiny. This new people, the negro race, has made these fifty-seven miles and accomplished the grueling race as few nations have done. Untaught, he has followed the spirit of the slave Crispus Attucks, the first martyr who fell before the British troops on the Boston Commons in defense of American liberty. Untaught, he has offered sacrifices of his blood and being on his country's altar, that all nations might sing of when they appeared before the corporation commission and agreed to stamp all invoices for Oklahoma deliveries, beginning immediately, to show a discount from delivered prices equal to 35 percent of the freight charge. The saving amounts to from 10 to 23 cents per barrel.

This action assures to the public immediate and universal benefit of the freight rate reduction recently ordered by the corporation commission on all commodities, which the cement companies were charged by citizens of certain localities with having absorbed.

The commission was convinced that the charge was not justified as to points in central and southern Oklahoma, but was justified as to most points in the northern part of the state, and the commission was unwilling for any communities to be discriminated against or for the public to not be given the full benefit of the readjustment made supposedly in the public interest.

pulling one nail. It has all the con-

now. They are of his own inven-

Farmer Says County Crops Looking Good Under Warm Weather

J. J. Townsend, a prominent farmer of the Franks community, was in the city a few days ago and while here paid the News office a visit. Mr. Townsend seemed well pleased with the outlook for a good crop this year. He stated that about 40 per cent of the tillable land in his community was planted in corn which he thought was an increase over the acreage last year.

About the same amount of cotton has been planted this year. The past week of fair weather has done much for the improvement of the crop condition, he believes, and with a few more days of fair weather, practically all the farmers in the community will have their crops in good condition.

Gardens and other truck crops have yielded well in this community, he reports, and almost every family is now able to live chiefly from the vegetable products of the garden. A good melon crop will be raised this year and the prospects are now better than ever.

Nine Harvesters Here After Work Find Wrong Town

Nine men had been sent to Ada from Texarkana by the U. S. Labor board of that place, expecting to get work in the harvest fields when then arrived here, the men were not needed and were sent on to Woodward, Okla., where a call for more hands has been sent out.

Six of these men were in the city yesterday the first three having arrived Sunday and applied to the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce for information concerning work.
The reason for the men being sent here is not known but it is thought to be because a mistake as to the name of the town to which the men were to be sent.

Federation Asks Ban on Gambling in Grain Futures

the convention of the American Federation of Labor as a means for combating the high cost of living.

The work of the federal trades

Blood of Three Fighting Races Mingled In Veins of Jack Dempsey Who Protects Heavyweight Title of the World July 2

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 21.—William Harrison Dempsey, the name by which the world's heavyweight champion was christened, was born 26 years ago in Manassa, Colo. The prefix "Jack" was assumed by the big fellow when he had grown to man's estate, and had chosen the fistic ring for a livelihood. As a fighter he had the idea and a good one, that by assuming the Christian name of "Jack" some of the glamor of not the wonderful boxing science which the original Jack Dempsey, Brooklyn's famous "nonpareil", possessed as the middle weight title holder might revert to him.

The champion is the sixth child of a family of eight. Three of his brothers and three sisters are alive but the youngest of the eight, who was named Bruce, died about two years ago. When Dempsey was seven years old his parents, Hiram and Celia Dempsey, with all their children moved from Manassa to Montrose, Colo., where they lived for nine years. Then the Dempsey household was shifted to Salt Lake, City, Utah, and that is the place which they, including the champion, claim as their home.

Porn of rugged parents Dempsey claims that he has Irish, Scotch and Indian blood in his veins and insists that the fighting qualities for which all three of those races are famous have been bred in the bone and blood and have come to him in generous portions from his ancestors.

Most of Dempsey's early life was spent in the open on a farm but later alternated by working in the mines exact in harvest time when he found it more remunerative to devote his strength to reaping wheat and other crops in the grain belt. In this way Dempsey kept himself in fine physical condition, the hard labor developing the wonderful muscles which proved to be such a useful factor in his winning the world's heavyweight title.

Unlike his challenger, Carpenter, Dempsey had very little early training for a career in the fighting arena, while the French champion was a close student of the glove when he was about 19 years old. His opponent was a young blacksmith, named Woods, whom he knocked out in the third round. This initial contest netted the now champion $25. His next fight also resulted in a third round knockout. Andy Malloy, who had previously walloped one of Dempsey's older brothers, being the victim.

When he was 20 years of age Dempsey began moving around, taking on a bout whenever the opportunity offered, while between times he returned to odd farming jobs or worked as a miner. His first Eastern experience in the fighting arena was in New York city where he met Andre Anderson, Wild Burt Kenney and Lester Johnson, a negro in ten round to no decision bouts. This was in 1916.

During the following year Dempsey knocked out Al Norton and Charley Miller, each in one round. Later he won from Willie Meehan, Carl Morris, Bob McAllister and Gunboat Smith in four round bouts in California and was knocked out in one round by Jim Flynn, the "Pueblo Fireman". In the following year Dempsey reversed this by knocking Flynn out in a single round and followed up with a series of knockouts, among his victims being Fred Fulton, Battling Levinsky, Porky Flynn, Arthur Pelkey and Terry Kellar.

Dempsey's banner year was 1919 when after scoring five knockouts of one round each in Pennsylvania and Connecticut, he won the title by stopping the big Kansas Jess Willard at Toledo, O., on Independence Day two years ago.

Organize for Drive.

Organization of the state into sections, districts, counties, divisions and precincts for the American Legion membership campaign which opens next Monday and continues until July 4th, has been begun by same and an actual competitor when he entered his "teens."

According to Dempsey's own story his first fistic encounter was in an improvised ring at Montrose, Col.

officials of the veterans organization. The aim of the Legion is to gain 10,000 new members in seven days by an intensive house to house campaign.

Under direction of district leaders the county commanders are to divide their territory into divisions, giving a certain amount of territory to each post. The post commander is to divide the post's territory into smaller precincts and assign workers to each one. The organization expects to visit every house in the state during the week and have at least 15,000 workers in the field.

Fritz Blumenthal of Oklahoma City, department vice-commander, is in charge of the third, fourth and fifth districts. C. H. Janeway of Collinsville, the first, second and eighth districts and Jay W. Jones of El Reno, will lead the work in the sixth and seventh districts.

District commanders are making a special effort to have county commanders elected in every county in their district so that the posts may have their territory divided properly for the canvass. An appeal to every legionnaire in the state to carry out the last wish of the late Frederick W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander, by working to make the campaign a success is being forwarded to each post by H. B. Fell, state commander.

THIS is your opportunity to invest direct in a strong, independent oil company with a well demonstrated record of success—an organization representing a complete unit of the petroleum industry—production, refining, transportation and marketing.

The investment will give you a definite income of 8% a year, payable 4% every six months, and also the privilege of exchanging your Notes for the Company's Preferred or Common Stock. This conversion privilege provides full opportunity for you to share in the stockholders' profits during the next 20 years. In the event of exceptionally large profits, which we anticipate, the conversion privilege should prove extremely valuable.

This Note issue of $1,000,000 is being sold for the purpose of developing additional production and extending the Company's manufacturing, transportation and marketing equipment. The Notes are being offered first to our customers and the friends of DEEP-ROCK gasoline, kerosene, oils and other petroleum products. We have many thousands of customers throughout ten leading states.

Oil Profits No Longer Limited to a Few

The time when the profits from the petroleum business were distributed among capitalists is passing. Far-seeing industrial leaders realize how much sounder it is for the securities of large and growing properties to be owned by the people. This new idea is called Customer Ownership, and its merits have already been proved—both from the standpoint of the investor and the best interests of leading industries.

Experienced and Able Management

The management of the Shaffer Oil and Refining Company is in the hands of men with long records of success in the production and refining of petroleum and the marketing of oil products. Plans for future development are comprehensive and promise large returns.

Earnings

Our gross earnings last year were $12,194,242, an increase of nearly 25% over the gross earnings of 1919. Net operating earnings for 1920 were $3,607,843. After deducting all prior interest charges the balance was approximately eight times the interest requirements on the Notes.

These Notes are issued under a carefully restricted

Trust Agreement (Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, Trustee).

Investigate Fully—Then Decide

We trust that you will understand that this Note offering is not at all similar to the promotion financings ordinarily called to your attention.

In order that prospective investors may be completely informed we have prepared descriptive and illustrated literature which we will send free on request. Our new booklet, "The Great Oil Properties Back of DEEP-ROCK," will repay your reading, whether you wish to invest or not. After you have read our literature, make up your mind regarding the investment. Investigate fully. Ask us about points on which you want special information.

Our Partial Payment Plan 9 Months to Pay

To carry out fully the idea of customer or popular ownership we offer a Partial Payment Plan for investing in this Note issue. By saving only 33 cents a day anyone can possess a $100 Shaffer Gold Note, or more in the proportion that you care to save.

The Notes come in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000. The price is the same whether you pay all cash or 10% with order and 10% a month for the balance.

Our Partial Payment Plan is fair and equitable in every way. Your payments earn interest from the time each is made. If you cannot complete your payments we refund your money with 3% interest. Learn more about this plan; it will appeal to you.

We Suggest That You Act at Once

Our Note offering is being made to a large number of customers and others, and the present $1,000,000 may be all taken in a short time. We respectfully suggest, therefore, that if you are at all interested you get in touch with us immediately by using the inquiry coupon in this advertisement. It is here for your convenience. Or, if you prefer, call or address our office nearest to where you live. Our representatives at our distributing stations will be glad to supply you with literature and complete information.

NORMAL NOTES

Superintendent-elect Davis of the Lindsay schools was in the city yesterday and while here was a visitor at the Normal. He reports the prospects for a good school year in his community as being very bright.

Fred Sloan is reported to be ill at his home this week and unable to attend to his school duties. His friends at the school are sorry he is unable to attend.

The Normal auditorium will be used by the McBryan party in their rural life conference work three days of this week. The auditorium is being prepared to care for the work.

Considerable interest in both boys and girls' basketball is being shown and it is expected that several interesting games will be played during the summer term. Although this is not the basketball season, it is believed that the games will stimulate interest in the county clubs and keep the spirit of the school at a high standard. No dates have yet been announced for the first games.

The tennis courts on the Normal grounds are proving very popular this season. They are in use almost continually and many tennis players are enrolled in the school. It is expected that a tennis tourney will be held sometime soon.

Boys taking courses in manual training this summer are being trained to make articles of furniture useful in any home. Several of the boys who have been members of former classes alive already made a good showing in their work and many different pieces of furniture are beginning to take shape. It is expected that before the summer is over considerable furniture will have been completed.

"The comely mermaid of Neptune Beach, Alameda, Cal., is seen here with both the old and the new suits. The old suit tips the beam at fifteen pounds, wet, whereas the new suit weighs just an ounce. It is expected that one-piece suits will be a common sight even on conservative eastern coast beaches the coming season.

HARDWARE MAN SAYS NO BUYERS' STRIKE

(By the Associated Press)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 21.—Buyer's strikes and profiteers were discussed by Mathias Ludlow, Newark, N. J., in his message to the Hardware congress as president of the National Retail Hardware association here today.

"How many have gone deeply in to the question and sought the true cause of the dissatisfaction?" he asked.

"I do not believe manufacturers have maintained unjust prices. I know retailers have been honest and done their best to keep down prices and I do not believe there has been a buyer's strike. A buyer's strike could not be organized, nor could it come spontaneously.

"I am convinced that the trouble has been with the taxation and I am fortified by utterances of two presidents of the United States, and reports of the department of labor and the department of justice.

"We have had an overproduction of false prophets and an underproduction of industry. Let us not be confused by discontent. The country is suffering from a tax system which might have existed when tremendous war profits were being made, when everybody was employed and money flowed plentifully, but the war is over.

"A proper adjustment of the tax situation will bring back prosperity and it behooves every business man to study taxation carefully and broadly, in the light of its relation to business."

As a solution of the tax problem, Mr. Ludlow suggested the merits claimed for the gross sales tax or turnover tax of one per cent, on all sales, advising that this "proposed sales tax deserved careful study. The prevailing of conditions attendant upon the present system should silence forever the statements that decreased business and the high cost of living are due either to a buyers' strike or to a greed of business men," declared Mr. Ludlow.

He predicted that "this condition will be adjusted and the good times are ahead," but admonished that "business men must think and study conditions as never before.

FORTY NAVAL BOMBING PLANES OFF FOR DESTRUCTION CRUISE

FLIERS TO STORM OLD GERMAN SUB

Air Service Seeks to Prove Supremacy Over Other Means of Attack.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 21.—The naval planes made short work of the former German submarine U-117 in the opening phase of the tests arranged by the government to demonstrate the efficiency of the airplane against modern warcraft. The first division of seaplanes sent out to bomb the submarine lightship sent the craft to the bottom. Commander Ellison, executive officer at the Hampton Roads Naval station, reported to the navy department on the basis of radio dispatches from the bombing squadron. The commandant of the station added to his cryptic message of the sinking that it was unnecessary to send additional planes to the scene. This ended the first phase of the bombing tests. The first report to the department did not give the number of bombs dropped by the attacking squadron or the number of hits recorded. The squadron was made up of three P-5-L type naval planes, each carrying four bombs weighing 163 pounds each. The next phase of the bombing tests will take place on June 28. Seaplanes will search for and undertake to bomb the radio controlled battleship Iowa somewhere off the coast between Cape Charles and Cape Henlopen.

OLD POINT COMFORT, Va., June 21.—Like a swarm of mosquitoes from the nearby marshes bearing death dealing "stings," scores of aircraft swept by here out to sea this morning to seek out and bomb the former German submarine U-117 in the first of a series of tests to prove or disprove the claims of the air service experts that the development of military aircraft spells the doom of surface war craft. The attacking forces today consist entirely of naval planes concentrated at the Hampton Roads naval base. It includes practically all types from the fast scouting planes to the heavy bombers. A total of 188 bombs, each weighing 163 pounds, were carried in the flight. With the former submarine undressed terror anchored fifty miles off Cape Charles with her decks awash, the initial attempt of the airmen will be to locate her. Concentric red, white and blue circles are painted on the U-boat's deck as a distinctive marking to insure the safety of other craft. With good marksmanship it was expected that the advance of the naval planes, which went out in groups, will be able to finish the target. It is arranged that should the U-117 survive the attack of the naval craft, a fleet of army planes from Langley Field would be sent out to try their hand at sinking her.

LEWIS WAGING KEEN CONTEST ON GOMPERS

(By the Associated Press)
DENVER, June 21.—Campaigners for both John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and Samuel Gompers, candidates for president, were working at top speed today when the sessions of the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor were resumed. Supporters of the candidates were busy throughout the night and conferences were held that are reported to have changed considerably the lineup of both sides in the contest. Both candidates expressed confidence of victory, declaring that they had been pledged sufficient votes to win. Their claims, however, conflict, and no accurate estimate could be made of the votes that each probably will receive. The election, labor leaders said, would be made a special order of business for next Friday afternoon.

RUSH BUILDINGS FOR TUBERCULAR

Three Sanatoriums With big Cost to be Used by State's Infirm.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, June 20.—As rapidly as the work can be done, Oklahoma's three tuberculosis sanatoriums are being completed and equipped for the reception of patients, according to announcement today of Dr. A. R. Lewis, state health commissioner. The Eastern Oklahoma sanatorium near Tahleah, is complete with the exception of equipment and the construction of a power house which will furnish heat and light. The special session of the Eighth legislature appropriated $75,000 for the construction of this plant, for equipment of the sanatorium and maintenance for the next two years. Equipment has been ordered and it is expected the institution will be formally opened October 1. Dr. Long now at the head of the tuberculosis bureau of the state board of health, has been named superintendent of the sanatorium.

The Western Oklahoma sanatorium, at Clinton, will not be ready for use until next January. Dr. Lewis said. Several buildings there are yet to be completed. For their construction, equipment and maintenance, $206,000 was appropriated. No superintendent has been named. The Boley sanatorium, for negro patients, will be ready for opening in August. In the emergency created by the recent Tulsa riot, six patients from that city were sent to the Boley institution, but provision for their care was of temporary nature. Dr. J. D. Nelson, a negro physician of Boley, is superintendent. Fifty thousand dollars was appropriated by the last legislature to complete and maintain the institution.

Applications are now on file, Dr. Lewis said, which will fill every bed in all three sanatoriums. Eastern and western sanatoriums each is to be equipped with 100 beds, the Boley sanatorium with fifty. The state sanatoriums were designed especially for the care of patients who are financially unable to seek climate changes, or to pay even for hospital attention. They will be cared for at a charge of $10 a week, which will include both board and medical attention. When patients or their relatives are unable to pay the expense, superintendents of the institutions are authorized to accept patients whose expense will be paid for by the counties from which they come. Arrangements also will be made to care for patients who can pay for more personal attention. As many as ten cottages, at each sanatorium will be erected for private patients.

The Eastern Oklahoma sanatorium is on top of a mountain near Tahleah, situated among pine trees, at an elevation of 2,000 feet above the sea level. Pure mountain spring water, run by gravity pressure from a neighboring mountain, will constitute the water supply. Open-air pavilions also are provided at Clinton and Boley. The Clinton institution has an elevation of 1,800 feet, and that at Boley, 1,000 feet.

FEDERATION TO MEET AT SHAWNEE SEPT. 19

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, June 21.—The eighteenth annual convention of the Oklahoma Federation of Labor will be held September 19 at Shawnee, according to a call issued here today by Edgar Benton, president, and Victor Purdy, secretary-treasurer. The convention will continue in session until all the business before it is disposed of, the call states.

According to the federal ruling, which is quoted in the call, each central labor body is entitled to one delegate and each local union to have the same representation for each 50 members or major fraction thereof, upon taxes per capita paid up to September 1. Unions having less than 50 members are entitled to one delegate, it is stated. The announcement does not indicate what matters will be before the convention.

EVANGELIST WILL REACH ADA TODAY

Dr. Dawson Wires He Will Be at Baptist Revival
Service Tonight.

Good crowds Monday morning and night attended first week-day services of the Baptist revival and increased attendance today is expected to greet Dr. J. M. Dawson, pastor of the First Baptist church at Waco, Tex., who will conduct the meeting here. Dr. Dawson, who was expected to arrive Monday afternoon in time for the services Monday night, was delayed by an important meeting of the board of directors of Baylor University, according to a telegram received yesterday afternoon by Rev. C. C. Morris, local Baptist pastor. R. O. Allen, Shawnee, who will conduct the singing for the revival, arrived yesterday and last night made his own introduction to the crowd.

Dr. Dawson assured Rev. Morris in his telegram Monday that he would be in Ada Tuesday in time for the meeting Tuesday night without fail.

In the absence of the evangelist, Rev. Morris preached at the service Monday on the topic "The Wages of Sin Is Death." He pointed out by a number of examples the prompt payment policy carried out by Sin and its certain rewards for individuals as well as nations. Striking instances in the lives of famous men, such as Alexander the Great, Edgar Allen Poe, and others were cited as examples of Sin's payment.

Two big choirs, a senior choir and a Booster for the children, have been organized by Mr. Allen and will furnish music for all services. It is possible that one night of the services this week will be turned over to the Booster choir. Allen announced, Allen, who accompanies the singing with trombone music, is considered one of the best choir directors ever secured to handle music for a revival meeting here.

Petition for Wage Cut Is Thrown Out By Federal Board

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, June 21.—The Coleman company lost its open shop fight before the United States labor board today when the board upheld the contentions of the union leaders that the company had not obeyed "the letter and spirit" of the transportation act when it conferred with its employees in mass meetings. The board threw out the company's petition for a cut in wages of its shop employees and instructed it to go back and meet the "duly elected representatives" of the employees.

In The Oil Fields

Drilling on the Transcontinental well, on the Colton farm inspection 14-5-4, close to Maxwell, had reached 1780 feet last night and sand is expected at 1850 feet. When bailers were pulled out, gas emitted the well. The 10-inch casing is down 1755 feet, according to those who returned from the well this morning, and drilling has just passed through 61 feet of blue shale into a black shale. M. E. Malone, W. R. Davis and Mr. Hibbs of Tulsa were here yesterday and went to inspect the well. The Transcontinental district manager arrived from Shawnee yesterday and is directing the building of the first 1000 barrel tank.

The Producers Oil and Refining company, drilled west of town in the NW. NW. of 6-2-6 is now down to 500 feet. They struck a showing of oil at 285 feet when they went into a two foot bed of sand. A 15-inch casing is now being put down which will allow drilling to go as deep as 2,000 feet.

PLANE IN SMASH THEN IS BURNED

Naval Seacraft Makes Forced Landing and Crew Escapes.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The naval seaplane N C-7 was wrecked and burned after a forced landing in Hampton Roads, Virginia, today, but all members of the crew were rescued uninjured, according to a telephone report to the navy department. The aircraft was not a bomb carrier, the report said. The first report failed to show the cause of the landing or fire, naval officers at Hampton Roads said.

Naval officers stated that the N C-7 was a big ship of the same kind as the N C-4, the first heavier-than-air craft to cross the Atlantic. They said she probably carried observers bound out to witness the bombing test by a naval flotilla against a former German submarine off the Virginia capes. She was not scheduled to take part in the bombing.

A committee consisting of W. C. Duncan, R. W. Simpson and Byron Sledge was appointed to co-operate with the Normal faculty in an endeavor to have erected the memorial gateway at the entrance to the Normal grounds. Something like $3,100 has already been raised for this purpose.

A full attendance of the club was present and enthusiasm prevailed.

PIRATES CAPTURED CREW OF SHIP SET ADrift, BOTTLED NOTE SAYS

CONFIDENCE MAIN HOPE FOR FUTURE

Bankers Say That Financial Depression lies in Mind of Public.

Highest optimism over the present financial condition, and especially over the outlook for relief in all lines of business, was expressed today by leading Ada bankers in summing up the general trend of times.

Although all agree that relief must come generally and cannot spring entirely from local sources anywhere, they believe that with the coming of fall and the harvesting of crops "financial depression" that has been talked about the nation over will be due to disappear. "Most, in fact practically all of our 'hard times,' are on paper only. We have heard it said that money is close and the market is off. Our believing the worst instead of the best is what has occasioned this 'depression,' one local banker declared.

Practically all Ada bankers are agreed that once the cattlemen's loan of $50,000,000 has passed, ranchers and stockmen of this section of the country will again be on the wave of better times. Many cattle raisers of this and other counties have been almost fatally struck by terrific reductions recently in the prices of livestock. Some have mortgaged their ranches and mortgaged their herds to tide them over in business until another year, hoping that conditions would become more promising and that prices again would seek something like their own level, bankers said.

Bankers here are agreed that the explanation of present "hard times" lies in a lack of confidence on the part of the general public.

"Why I know one farmer in this county who said he didn't trust any bank. He hoarded his money and cashed it away in an old stocking which he hid under his mattress every night. He had no faith in the country or in the people. Then one night his house caught fire. In his hurry to carry out personal belongings, the farmer and his wife forgot their 'deposit-bank.' Their savings for months, amounting to $451, went up in smoke. Such foolish action as this one the part of many people, uninformed on the reliability of their own financial institutions, is what brings the country to so-called 'financial straits,' he asserted.

"If that same farmer had trusted himself, his neighbors, the public, and the banks he would have put this surplus $451 out on interest. That money would have helped two other farmers raise crops. This luckless man would have felt better all the time over his investment and when the blow came he would have been riding high above the water, with something still left for a reserve."

Big business ventures in Ada have done much to combat unemployment here and consequently to stabilize the local financial situation to a great extent, bankers and business men believe.

Note—Tomorrow the News will print statements from each of the leading bankers of the city on their own opinions of the present situation.

CAST IN STRENUOUS TRAINING FOR SHOW

Rehearsals now being held night and day are bringing out some remarkable talent which will be displayed at the Elks' Charity Fund Minstrel here June 29 and 30, according to Harry Ennis, director.

Individual training for the various acts and specialties has been carried forward this week and practically every character in the minstrel is working to make his part stand out as the leading role, those who have been practicing say. One of the characters made a trip to Oklahoma City last week purposely to have his voice "maintained" for the performance, a statement from the director indicates.

Business Manager J. C. Gowing announced today that Jim Stott was in training for his burlesque fight for the minstrel and J. T. Roff "the sweet voiced" tenor, will sing. His solo-act will be "If I Were Caruso, I Would Be a Shining Star."

Jim Norman, Con Roach, G. W. Braly are others who are slated to carry "heavy" roles in the minstrel.

SUB CHASER WAS OUTLAW, BELIEF

Two Vessels Thought to Have Been Captured
by Same Ship.

(By the Associated Press)
PORTLAND, Maine, June 21.—The theory that pirates are afloat in the north Atlantic has found credence with the establishment of the fact that the message found in a bottle picked up two months ago north of Cape Hatteras, purporting to explain the disappearance of the crew of the schooner Carroll A. Deering, was written by Henry Bates of Islesboro, Maine, a member of the crew. The question of its genuineness was settled by handwriting experts.

The unsigned note states that the schooner was captured by an oil burning craft, something like a sub chaser, that the members of the crew, who were hiding over the ship with no chance of escape were being handcuffed and that everything was being taken off. The department of commerce and other government agencies are working on the theory that the oil steamer Hewitt, which disappeared in the same locality at about the same time while bound from Texas to Boston, was captured by the same pirate craft.

Mrs. Willis B. Wornell of this city, wife of the captain of the Deering, and friends, urged the investigation at the department of commerce. The missing crew consisted of 12 men beside the captain.

The Deering was bound from South America. She was found undamaged with all sails set on the outer shoal off Cape Hatteras on the morning of January 31.

May Repeal Luxury Tax as Result of Low Expenditures

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 21.—Federal expenditures for the fiscal year beginning July 1 should fall below $3,500,000,000 it was declared in the house today. On that basis, it was added, congress would be able to repeal the excess profits, transportation, "obnoxious" luxury taxes, reduce the higher income taxes and conserve nothing but economy. Revenues were estimated for the coming fiscal year at four billion dollars.

YOUNG ADA SOLDIER DIES IN PRESCOTT

A message from Prescott, Arizona to Mrs. Orville Sneed today announced the death of Ernest Broughton of this place. The young man contracted tuberculosis while in the army in France and has gradually sunk since. His father, L. F. Broughton of Portland Park, was with the son at his death.

The deceased was well known here where he grew up. He was a moral and religious young man and the pride of his parents. The father rushed to him only a few days ago, reaching Prescott a short time before death occurred. The war record of the young man was wonderful. He was in several battles and was awarded the victory medal with 3 gold stripes. Since he has been out of the service, Mrs. Sneed has been giving him attention, through her work with the Red Cross.

"IS TOBACCO going to have its scalp added to the belt of the prohibitionist beside that of the lamented but as yet not altogether late alcohol?" is the question asked by Garret Smith in an article in the current issue of "Leslie's Magazine."

The writer reaches the conclusion that while there has been increased agitation and legislative activity on the subject of tobacco following the success of the drive for prohibition of liquor the efforts of reformers seeking to abolish tobacco have no general support. This opinion is based largely on the results of a questionnaire on the subject sent out to newspaper editors of the country by the Press Service Company of New York City.

Discussing other arguments against tobacco prohibition, he says users of the weed point to its long continued and almost universal use at the present time.

"Discovered first by Columbus in 1492 as an American weed smoked by the Indians—it was a botanical curiosity in Europe for nearly one hundred years," he continues. "Then, with its introduction into England by Sir Francis Drake and Governor Lane of Virginia and its popularizing by Sir Walter Raleigh, it sprang into general use."

"They point out that even at that time there were prohibition movements against tobacco; one of the strongest being led by an English King. Yet those movements never got anywhere. They say it is significant, in comparing the possible fate of tobacco with the fate of alcohol, that in those early days of anti-tobacco agitation no one yet dreamed of prohibiting liquor.

"They point out, too, the strongly entrenched economic foothold of tobacco in the United States, which is the chief tobacco country of the world today with an acreage of nearly 2,000,000, representing a land investment of over $160,000,000 conservatively estimated. This acreage has more than doubled in the last fifteen years. The total value of the 1920 crop was $298,001,000, being the value of 1,508,064,000 pounds produced that year at the average farm price of 19.8 cents a pound. This does not take into account the large investment in plants for manufacturing and distributing the finished product, for which there are as yet no official figures. There were, however, produced during the year 8,304,818,762 cigars, 20,408,827,557 cigarettes and 453,482,919 pounds of pipe tobacco and snuff.

"Of course, those who favor prohibition of tobacco discount these arguments by the statement that the use of tobacco parallels that of liquor in that the use of liquor was at one time as widespread and universal but was more strongly entrenched in that it dates back before the dawn of civilization. They say further that the investment involved in the United States in the liquor business was fully as great as that now in the tobacco business."

The questions asked in the questionnaire to the newspaper editors were:

(1) Do you favor the enactment of laws prohibiting the personal use of tobacco by adults?

(2) In your judgment does the general sentiment of your community favor such legislation?

(3) Is the use of tobacco personally objectionable to you?

No arguments accompanied the questions and from their form it was impossible for any editor to determine the attitude of those seeking the information.

Out of 12,518 editors questioned, 7,847 replied according to the summary given. Those editors represent a combined circulation of 21,850, 048. This shows an extraordinary interest in anti-tobacco legislation. Of the 7,847 editors replying, 7,393, or 94 per cent, represent public sentiment in their communities as opposed to anti-tobacco legislation. Only 250 editors, or 3 per cent, of those replying, believed there was any considerable sentiment favorable to tobacco prohibition. There were 174, or 2 per cent, in doubt, while 20 failed to record their judgment.

"It is of special interest to note that 560 editors, in answering the first question, personally favored such legislation, although only 200 of them reported that public opinion also favored the prohibition of tobacco—an indication of the conscientious effort made by the editors to distinguish public opinion from their own personal opinions," the article continues.

"The highest percentage of replies reporting public opinion favorable to prohibition of tobacco came from Utah, where 42 per cent of the editors thought that the public were for such a movement. Utah is the only state which has since adopted an anti-cigarette law. The result was forecast by several of the editors, who stated that the influence of the Mormon Church was against tobacco. The Mormon Church is also strong in Idaho, which is the other state where the use of tobacco was recently prohibited, but the governor has signed the bill just passed, in which the prohibitory legislation is repealed. In this state 89 per cent of the editors estimate sentiment in their communities as against tobacco prohibition, which, nevertheless, is six per cent below the average reported opposition."

"The legislature of Tennessee some weeks ago passed and the governor has signed a bill repealing the Anti-Cigarette law of that state. The questionnaire showed 88 per cent of its editors believed the public against anti-tobacco legislation. The legislature of Arkansas has also just passed a bill repealing its Anti-Cigarette law. In this state 94 per cent of the editors reported against tobacco prohibition."

"A bill, introduced in the current session of the legislature of Arizona to prohibit smoking in public dining rooms and other public places, was first amended to prohibit the consumption in public of chewing gum, tea and coffee, and then defeated by the senate. The questionnaire returns from that state were 92 per cent 'no'."

"In Iowa where the 'no's' were 95 per cent a bill to repeal the Anti-Cigarette law has been passed and signed by the governor."

"A bill to repeal the Anti-Cigarette law in Kansas, with 89 per cent of 'no's', is receiving the attention of its legislature. Last year a petition for a referendum in Oregon to prohibit the use of tobacco failed of sufficient signatures to bring the question to a vote, and 95 per cent of the editors declare their public against the legislation. In Oklahoma an anti-cigarette bill has been reported unfavorably in the house. The editors of the state reported 94 per cent against its public support."

"Outside of Utah, where Mormon influence predominates," the article concludes, "the anti-tobacco movement appears, as in the case of Tennessee, Arkansas and Iowa, to be losing ground and is not to any considerable extent supported by the people."

John G. Emery, the new national commander of the American Legion, hails from Grand Rapids, Mich. He was born on the Fourth of July, forty years ago. His election, which was by acclamation of the National Executive committee, took place at the national headquarters at Indianapolis. At the same time Thomas J. Bannigan of Hartford, Conn., was elected vice commander, succeeding Mr. Emery, who now fills the vacancy caused by the death of F. W. Galbraith, Jr.

Mr. Emery is a real estate operator. He has served as president of the Grand Rapids Real Estate board and as one of the commissioners of that city. He is president of the first division club. His military record dates from his entrance to the second officers training camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill., August 27, 1917. He attended various schools in France and was assigned to the 18th Infantry of the first division. He commanded F company of this regiment in the Montdidier-Noyon and Aisne-Marne offensive and became a major September 1, 1918, following the St. Mihiel and Argonne offensives. He was severely wounded by shell fire October 9, and was immediately sent to the United States. He was discharged from the hospital and from the army March 31, 1919. He has been active in American Legion affairs ever since.

Mr. Bannigan, the new vice-commander, has served as adjutant of the Connecticut department of the American Legion three years. During the war he served as a captain. He is a member of the Legion's national committee on war risk insurance and compensation.

Takes Reunion Grounds.

Reunion grounds of the Blue and Gray association of Western Oklahoma with all buildings and equipment valued at several thousand dollars, which have been used by veterans of the civil war for many years, will become the property of the American Legion on September 1. Transfer of the property, located at Bridgeport, was effected last week when Edward F. Carpenter, commander of the Bridgeport Legion post and Earl Bacon, commander at Hinton, signed the necessary papers.

In recognition of the transfer the two posts have asked the department executive committee of the American Legion to designate the grounds as official reunion property of the Legion in the western section of the state.

PAIGE

How Much Should You Pay For a Fine Car?

So far as prices are concerned, the Paige 6-66 is quite obviously the greatest dollar-for-dollar value on the American market. It is not only legitimately priced, but it is actually selling for from one to three thousand dollars less than its nearest competitors.

We respect this competition but as business men must insist that the discrepancy is altogether unjustified. Unless 6-66 prices are vastly increased, the higher priced cars must ultimately reduce. This appears to be the only fair and sensible conclusion.

At any rate, please consider this one fact: You can today buy a Paige car with a sense of absolute security because you are buying on the new readjustment level. There can be no sudden depreciation of your investment—no "price cuts" to meet competitive standards.

Paige is at rock bottom in price and peak position in quality. For that reason it is a safe, sane and profitable investment.

Civilization's Greatest Achievement

Some Eskimos were brought down to Edmonton, Alberta, on official business.

They had never before been south of the Arctic Circle.

They had never seen a street, a town, a window, or a wooden door. A bed, a water tap, and an electric light produced completely new sensations. Street cars were unknown to them; telephones unheard of; trains not to be believed even when beheld.

They had never seen an automobile until someone took them riding in one. They had never set their eyes on an airplane until someone did his most daring stunts in one to thrill them. They had never even seen a movie!

But what do you suppose moved them most in the whole bag of tricks which civilization produced for their amusement and amazement?

What seemed to them the greatest wonder of all?

The cold storage plants!

The White Man didn't always have to hunt and fish when he wanted to eat!

Here was civilization's greatest gift, its greatest benefaction.

This feature of civilization makes it possible for Swift & Company, in the season of over production, to store a supply of food for distribution in the season of scant, or non-production. Thus we are able to maintain for all a constant supply of such choice and necessary foods as Premium Milk-fed Chickens, Brookfield Butter and Brookfield Eggs.

PAINS IN SIDE AND BACK

Caused by Woman's Ills and Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Grafton, Pa.—"I was troubled with inflammation and pains in my sides and back. After doctoring with different doctors and not getting relief, I had almost given up hopes when my sister told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and knowing that she had really been helped by it, I purchased it. I was unable to do my work at that time, but after taking several bottles of the Vegetable Compound I can now do anything about the house or farm that a woman should do. I have a four months old baby that is the healthiest and biggest baby for his age that I have ever seen. I am willing for my letter to be used for a testimonial to tell other suffering women how much your medicine has done for me, as I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all the praise."—MRS. BLAIR L. FISHER, R. D. 1, Box 97, Grafton, Pa.

Working early and late—lifting, carrying, and the heaviest of household duties—is it any wonder that it results in backaches and kindred ills. But every woman who suffers as Mrs. Fisher did should profit by her experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

Old Party Games Played at Mixer for Summer Term

Students and faculty members mingled at the Normal last night when the faculty members entertained the entire student body with the annual mixer on the campus. The guests began arriving at an early hour and were met at the entrance by the reception committee. A general introduction was held at which time all were given a chance to meet each other in a formal way. Specialists, including the grand march, the dancing of the Virginia Reel and many other interesting events were featured. After more than an hour of fun on the campus, all were called to the gym where they were divided in groups to play various games. Refreshments were served.

Those who were present at this enjoyable event were unanimous in their voting it to be one of the best school socials in history. The faculty lived up to their reputation as royal entertainers and at no time during the evening was anyone allowed a moment of discomfort or displeasure.

To the many good people who so kindly remembered and assisted us in our hours of sorrow over the death of our son and brother Lenore House, we wish to extend our most heartfelt thanks and hopes that similar griefs to them may be long deferred.

A Fund of Information That You Should Have

DISRAELI, who for six years was prime minister of England, said: "It has been my observation that the most successful man in any undertaking, is the man who has the most information."

It doesn't require any particular information just to go out and buy something. But to buy the best of that something at a price that is satisfactory to you—that is a successful purchase. And to make successful purchases you must have information.

Advertising gives you just that kind of information. It tells you where to go in order to get the best of anything you want at a fair price.

That is why it is a paying proposition for the man or woman who handles a pocket book to study the advertisements in this newspaper—regularly—every day.

To those who use it properly, newspaper advertising is a source of economy and satisfaction that never runs dry. It is a watch-dog of dollars—a guarantee of satisfaction.

If you would learn the facts about the things you need to make you comfortable and happy.

Entered at the postoffice at Ada, Oklahoma, as second class mail matter

Telephones: Business Office, 4. Editorial Dept., 307

Paving will start in Ada in a few days. The lamentable part of the affair will be when it stops.

What would you call President Harding's attitude towards Mexico, if it is not "watchful waiting?"

If general rains over the Southwest means no hot winds, we shall certainly not have any this summer.

The results of Saturday night would indicate that a round-up does not necessarily mean a round-up of cattle.

When the Turk and the Russian bolshevik lie down together, what will happen? It will not be the lion and the lamb.

Some cities make fun of Ada's oil boom, but we notice that none of these towns have any oil. So far as present activity is concerned, any town in any oil field is not unusually active, due to the low price of oil. Watch Ada move out in a few weeks.

Would-be candidates for governor are sending out feelers. Both democrats and republicans are anxious for the nomination. We suggest that no mud-slinging be indulged in by either party in the primaries. One of the things that has injured the democratic party in this state probably more than any other one thing is the attempt to discredit the nominee before he becomes a nominee and that by the members of his own party. Let all the facts come out, but keep away from falsehoods and false insinuations.

LOOKING AHEAD.

"Looking ahead," says Mr. Theodore H. Price in the current issue of his publication, Commerce and Finance, "we see nothing to shake the conviction that the cotton industry is gradually approaching a period of extraordinary activity and prosperity. It can be only a question of time before the demand for textiles to meet current needs and replace supplies exhausted during the war and the period of deflation which has marked the preliminary stages of reconstruction, must develop. It will do so, just as soon as the world can do anything more than live from hand-to-mouth and that it will eventually mean a time of great expansion in manufacturing facilities and raw material requirements, seems to us inevitable."

We think that Mr. Price's confidence is justified. It is, as he says, "only a question of time," however, and that is just another way of saying that it remains to be seen at what rate improvement will come. There can be little doubt that once a certain stage of readjustment is reached in the world and something approaching confidence and certainty is restored, we shall witness the opening of a period of genuine prosperity throughout the world. Meantime the immediate future is not quite as dark as it has been and we may expect progressive improvement.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

MEXICAN OIL

That the importation of Mexican oil is having a bearish tendency on the market for American oil goes without saying. The importation of millions of barrels of crude oil a month, in addition to the increased production in the mid-continent field, could have but one effect and that is the lowering of the price. Sooner or later this means production will slacken and the price will pick up. The cost of production in the Mexican fields is so low, however, compared to the cost of production in Oklahoma and other southwestern states that the southwestern operators need protection.

At the same time, every encouragement should be given American investors who want to purchase Mexican oil property and the American government ought to see that these investors are protected. It is evident to the observer that the Mexican people will not for many years develop the oil properties. It is evident also that somebody will develop them. This means that the Mexican oil fields will be developed by Americans or by other foreign investors. It is to the advantage of our shipping, our industries and possibly the very army and navy itself that American citizens control at least the major part of the Mexican fields.

One has but to recall that the consumption of crude petroleum increased in ten years from 200,000,000 to 500,000,000 barrels to realize how soon the American fields will be drained. Our merchant marine is fast going to oil burning engines. It takes years and fortunes to develop an oil field, and no time should be lost in getting control of some of the Mexican property. The country which controls the world's supply of petroleum may control the commerce.

Comments given below do not of necessity reflect the opinion of the News. In fact, oftentimes the opinion expressed is directly opposite to that held by the News. The opinions are given, however, because this is a newspaper.

"Let George Do It."

McAlester News-Capital: Everybody agrees that the country is suffering from a great building shortage.

Everybody agrees that there is something radically wrong some where, when the great need for buildings of all kinds cannot be met although there are millions of men unemployed.

When it comes to fixing the blame for this ridiculous condition of things, there seems to be very great difference of opinion.

Some charge it to the high price of steel; some to the high prices of other building materials; others to the high wages demanded by labor.

Every fellow wants the other fellow to "liquidate" and is quite sure that if he would do so there would be an immediate building boom.

The employers and material men are beginning to quarrel among themselves as to which class among them is the greater profiteer.

The steel men have finally turned on the other material fellows and have given out some very interesting figures. They show that on May 1, of this year structural steel prices showed an advance over May 1, 1913, of 43 per cent an advance of 165 per cent, lime 206 per cent and cement 96 per cent.

The employees in the building trades, who are disinclined to have their wages drastically deflated, seem to have nothing on these building chaps.

The 43 per cent increase is not so much out of line, everything considered. But advances ranging from 96 per cent to 206 per cent make the so-called labor profiteers look like pikers.

Very properly the Boston News Bureau, a leading financial daily, asks: "Has there been deflation-dodging in building materials as well as in building trades labor?"

The Passing of "Boss" Government.

Muskogee Phoenix: Mark Sullivan, foremost among America's political students, telegraphs from Washington, that the party leadership and party loyalty of the good old days is on the wane; that party discipline is little more than a reminiscence and that in the stead of party unity there has arrived a new division of power. The farmers cast their votes as one, the labor sympathizers stand together, the prohibitionists vote in accordance with their prohibition doctrines. The situation, Mr. Sullivan remarks, is "viewed with alarm."

Mr. Sullivan, of course, is speaking for the party men in Washington. There can be no doubt but that our senators and representatives no longer blindly follow the dictates of their "bosses." Few indeed are those in our national capital today who would not deeply resent receiving word that "Mr. Aldrich desires that the measure be defeated." It was proper in the old days; more, it was considered disloyalty to party to ignore such instruction.

Today our representatives demand the right and privilege of thinking for themselves. Disintegration of party power and organization could, no doubt, be carried to such extremes that legislative chaos would result, but most assuredly we may find considerable satisfaction in Mr. Sullivan's report that the boss method of government has passed.

MILES OF OVERALLS ARE USED IN STATE MONTHLY

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 21.—

Material for overalls consumed monthly to meet the demand of the state, would, if made into one pair, require a giant eight miles high, with a waist measurement of two and a half miles and legs two miles long to fill them, according to an estimate of local jobbers. It requires 50,000 pairs of the garments, representing in raw denim 155,000 yards or $175,000, they added, to supply the monthly needs.

LONG SUIT COATS ARE FORECAST FOR WEAR NEXT SEASON

The outstanding feature of the new suits for the coming fall is the length of the coats. It is much too early to seriously consider the fall suit, but when one of the leading makers of the country showed his line, which is ready for fall, this model was seen among them, and it is only indicative of all the new suits with its long, slightly-fitted coat.

The Negroes' 57th Birthday.

Fifty-seven years in the history of a nation counts but little as mere time is reckoned. But fifty-seven years of utilized opportunities and the developed moral and mental status of a people means much in the making of a race.

A half century ago the gate between bondage and liberty was opened. A new people walked with trembling feet, the unfamiliar paths of manhood, with their faces turned toward the horizon of uncertainties, best by human weaknesses, unmanned by ignorance, striving against foes within and foes without, this child of destiny. This new people, the negro race, has made these fifty-seven miles and accomplished the grueling race as few nations have done. Untaught, he has followed the spirit of the slave Crispus Attucks, the first martyr who fell before the British troops on the Boston Commons in defense of American liberty. Untaught, he has offered sacrifices of his blood and being on his country's altar, that all nations might sing of

America, "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

Fifty-seven years old, a child race, it should not be expected to reach the high idealized standards of the older races. For fifty-seven years in patience has it silently fought its way upward. Long has he gazed to the lofty hill tops where the mighty white race stands basking in God's eternal sunlight, and he patiently begs him to turn, that he might receive just a little light.

Down in the valley of human isolation he stands with outstretched hands, pleading, not for "social equality," but for light. The negro is not a combative or belligerent people, or he would be but a memory by now. He is but a child, fifty-seven years old Sunday.—C. W. Wilson.

Reductions Made in Cement Prices When Freight Rate Drops

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 21.—Cement companies in Oklahoma met the public half way Monday when they appeared before the corporation commission and agreed to stamp all invoices for Oklahoma deliveries, beginning immediately, to show a discount from delivered prices equal to 35 percent of the freight charge. The saving amounts to from 10 to 23 cents per barrel. This action assures to the public immediate and universal benefit of the freight rate reduction recently ordered by the corporation commission on all commodities, which the cement companies were charged by citizens of certain localities with having absorbed.

The commission was convinced that the charge was not justified as to points in central and southern Oklahoma, but was justified as to most points in the northern part of the state, and the commission was unwilling for any communities to be discriminated against or for the public to not be given the full benefit of the readjustment made supposedly in the public interest.

Farmer Says County Crops Looking Good Under Warm Weather

J. J. Townsend, a prominent farmer of the Franks community was in the city a few days ago and while here paid the News office a visit. Mr. Townsend seemed well pleased with the outlook for a good crop this year. He stated that about 40 per cent of the tillable land in his community was planted in corn which he thought was an increase over the acreage last year.

About the same amount of cotton has been planted this year. The past week of fair weather has done much for the improvement of the crop condition, he believes, and with a few more days of fair weather, practically all the farmers in the community will have their crops in good condition.

Gardens and other truck crops have yielded well in this community, he reports, and almost every family is now able to live chiefly from the vegetable products of the garden. A good melon crop will be raised this year and the prospects are now better than ever.

The reason for the men being sent here is not known but it is thought to be because a mistake as to the name of the town to which the men were to be sent.

Blood of Three Fighting Races Mingled In Veins of Jack Dempsey Who Protects Heavyweight Title of the World July 2

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 21.—William Harrison Dempsey, the name by which the world's heavyweight champion was christened, was born 26 years ago in Manassa, Colo. The prefix "Jack" was assumed by the big fellow when he had grown to man's estate, and had chosen the name for a livelihood. As a fighter he had the idea and a good one, that by assuming the Christian name of "Jack" some of the glamour of the world-famous boxing science which the original Jack Dempsey, Brooklyn's famous "knockout" passed on as the middle weight title holder might be his to him.

The champion is the sixth child of a family of eight. Three of his brothers and three sisters are alive but the youngest of the eight, who was named Bruce, died about two years ago. When Dempsey was seven years old his parents, Herman and Celia Dempsey, moved from Manassa to Manassa, Colo., where they lived for many years. Then the Dempsey household was moved to Salt Lake, City, Utah, and that is the place which they, including the champion, claim as their home.

Born of rugged parents Dempsey claims that he has Irish, Scotch and Indian blood in his veins and insists that the fighting qualities for which all three of these races are famous have been bred in the bone and blood and have come to him in generous portions from his ancestors.

Most of Dempsey's early life was spent in the open on a farm but later alternated by working in the mines and in the lumbering business. He found it more remunerative to devote his strength to reaping wheat and other crops in the grain belt.

In this way Dempsey kept himself in fine physical condition, the hard labor developing the wonderful muscles which proved to be such a useful factor in his winning the world's heavyweight title.

Unlike his challenger, Carpenter, Dempsey had very little early training for a career in the fighting arena, while the French champion was a close student of the glove

when he was about 15 years old. His opponent was a young blacksmith, named Woods, whom he knocked out in the third round. This initial contest netted the down champion $25. His next fight also resulted in a third round knockout. Andy Malloy, who had previously walloped one of Dempsey's older brothers, being the victim.

When he was 20 years of age Dempsey began roving around, taking on a bout whenever the opportunity offered, while between times he returned to odd farming jobs or worked as a miner. His first Eastern experience in the fighting arena was in New York city where he met Andre Anderson, Wild Burt Kenney and Lester Johnson, a negro in ten round to no decision bouts. This was in 1916.

During the following year Dempsey knocked out Al Norton and Charley Miller, each in one round. Later he won from Willie Meehan, Carl Morris, Bob McAllister and Gunboat Smith in four round bouts in California and was knocked out in one round by Jim Flynn, the "Pueblo Fireman". In the following year Dempsey reversed this by knocking Flynn out in a single round and followed up with a series of knockouts, among his victims being Fred Fulton, Battling Levinsky, Porky Flynn, Arthur Pelkey and Terry Kellar.

Dempsey's banner year was 1919 when after scoring five knockouts of one round each in Pennsylvania and Connecticut, he won the title by stopping the big Kansas Jess Willard at Toledo, O., on Independence Day two years ago.

Organize for Drive.

Organization of the state into sections, districts, counties, divisions and precincts for the American Legion membership campaign which opens next Monday and continues until July 4th, has been begun by officials of the veterans organization. The aim of the Legion is to gain 10,000 new members in seven days by an intensive house to house campaign.

Under direction of district leaders the county commanders are to divide their territory into divisions, giving a certain amount of territory to each post. The post commander is to divide the post's territory into smaller precincts and assign workers to each one. The organization expects to visit every house in the state during the week and have at least 15,000 workers in the field.

Fritz Blumenthal of Oklahoma City, department vice-commander, is in charge of the third, fourth and fifth districts. C. H. Janeway of Collinsville, the first, second and eighth districts and Jay W. Jones of El Reno, will lead the work in the sixth and seventh districts.

District commanders are making a special effort to have county commanders elected in every county in their district so that the posts may have their territory divided properly for the campaign. An appeal to every legionnaire in the state to carry out the last wish of the late Frederick W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander, by working to make the campaign a success is being forwarded to each post by H. B. Fell, state commander.

A Safe Oil Investment With Extra-Profit Opportunity

An 8% Convertible 20-Year Gold Note Offering by Shaffer Oil and Refining Company, Producers and Manufacturers of the Famous DEEP-ROCK Oil Products—Discoverers of the Noted Cushing Pool, Oklahoma, in 1912

THIS is your opportunity to invest direct in a strong, independent oil company with a well demonstrated record of success—an organization representing a complete unit of the petroleum industry—production, refining, transportation and marketing.

The investment will give you a definite income of 8% a year, payable 4% every six months, and also the privilege of exchanging your Notes for the Company's Preferred or Common Stock. This conversion privilege provides full opportunity for you to share in the stockholders' profits during the next 20 years. In the event of exceptionally large profits, which we anticipate, the conversion privilege should prove extremely valuable.

This Note issue of $1,000,000 is being sold for the purpose of developing additional production and extending the Company's manufacturing, transportation and marketing equipment. The Notes are being offered first to our customers and the friends of DEEP-ROCK gasoline, kerosene, oils and other petroleum products. We have many thousands of customers throughout ten leading states.

Oil Profits No Longer Limited to a Few

The time when the profits from the petroleum business were distributed among capitalists is passing. Far-seeing industrial leaders realize how much sounder it is for the securities of large and growing properties to be owned by the people. This new idea is called Customer Ownership, and its merits have already been proved—both from the standpoint of the investor and the best interests of leading industries.

Experienced and Able Management

The management of the Shaffer Oil and Refining Company is in the hands of men with long records of success in the production and refining of petroleum and the marketing of oil products. Plans for future development are comprehensive and promise large returns.

Earnings

Our gross earnings last year were $12,194,242, an increase of nearly 25% over the gross earnings of 1919. Net operating earnings for 1920 were $3,607,843. After deducting all prior interest charges the balance was approximately eight times the interest requirements on the Notes.

These Notes are issued under a carefully restricted

Trust Agreement (Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, Trustee).

Investigate Fully—Then Decide

We trust that you will understand that this Note offering is not at all similar to the promotion financings ordinarily called to your attention.

In order that prospective investors may be completely informed we have prepared descriptive and illustrated literature which we will send free on request. Our new booklet, "The Great Oil Properties Back of DEEP-ROCK," will repay your reading, whether you wish to invest or not. After you have read our literature, make up your mind regarding the investment. Investigate fully. Ask us about points on which you want special information.

Our Partial Payment Plan 9 Months to Pay

To carry out fully the idea of customer or popular ownership we offer a Partial Payment Plan for investing in this Note issue. By saving only 33 cents a day anyone can possess a $100 Shaffer Gold Note, or more in the proportion that you care to save.

The Notes come in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000. The price is the same whether you pay all cash or 10% with order and 10% a month for the balance.

Our Partial Payment Plan is fair and equitable in every way. Your payments earn interest from the time each is made. If you cannot complete your payments we refund your money with 3% interest. Learn more about this plan; it will appeal to you.

We Suggest That You Act at Once

Our Note offering is being made to a large number of customers and others, and the present $1,000,000 may be all taken in a short time. We respectfully suggest, therefore, that if you are at all interested you get in touch with us immediately by using the inquiry coupon in this advertisement. It is here for your convenience. Or, if you prefer, call or address our office nearest to where you live. Our representatives at our distributing stations will be glad to supply you with literature and complete information.

$25,000,000 in Property Back of Your Investment

NEW BATHING SUIT BEATS OLD 15 TO 1

Pretty mermaid wearing the ounce bathing suit and holding the fifteen-pound model of ten years ago.

The one-piece bathing suit is surely gaining in popularity, while the old-fashioned bathing costume is practically extinct. The comely mermaid of Neptune Beach, Alameda, Cal., is seen here with both the old and the new suits. The old suit tips the beam at fifteen pounds, while the new suit weighs just an ounce. It is expected that one-piece suits will be a common sight even on conservative eastern coast beaches the coming season.

HARDWARE MAN SAYS NO BUYERS' STRIKE

(By the Associated Press)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 21.—Buyer's strikes and profiteers were discussed by Matthias Ludlow, Newark, N. J., in his message to the Hardware congress as president of the National Retail Hardware association here today.

"How many have gone deeply in to the question and sought the true cause of the dissatisfaction?" he asked.

"I do not believe manufacturers have maintained unjust prices. I know retailers have been honest and done their best to keep down prices and I do not believe there has been a buyer's strike. A buyer's strike could not be organized, nor could it come spontaneously.

"I am convinced that the trouble has been with the taxation and I am fortified by utterances of two presidents of the United States, and reports of the department of labor and the department of justice.

"We have had an overproduction of false prophets and an underproduction of industry. Let us not be confused by discontent. The country is suffering from a tax system which might have existed when tremendous war profits were being made, when everybody was employed and money flowed plentifully, but the war is over.

"A proper adjustment of the tax situation will bring back prosperity and it is behoove every business man to study taxation carefully and broadly, in the light of its relation to business."

As a solution of the tax problem, Mr. Ludlow suggested the merits claimed for the gross sales tax or turnover tax of one per cent, on all sales, advising that this "proposed sales tax deserved careful study.

"The prevailing of conditions attendant upon the present system should silence forever the statements that decreased business and the high cost of living are due either to a buyers' strike or to a greed of business men," declared Mr. Ludlow.

He predicted that "this condition will be adjusted and the good times are ahead," but admonished that "business men must think and study conditions as never before.

NORMAL STUDENTS GOOD AS HARVEST

Statistics and Estimates Show Summer Students Spend $175,000.

That the East Central State Normal is an asset to the city from a business standpoint is proven by the statistics recently submitted by those interested in the school before the board of trustees. From the standpoint of a business stimulant, it has almost the same effect on the city as would the harvesting of a crop, merchants say. A low, conservative estimate shows that more than $175,000 will be brought into the city by the summer Normal alone.

This money will be divided up among the dry goods merchants, groceries and markets, hardware dealers, amusements, drug stores, banks, and practically every kind of business in the city will be affected. When compared with the amount of taxes paid out of this city each year for the school, the benefit of the summer Normal alone would more than bring that amount back, it is estimated.

Following are some deductions faculty members have made: Each student attending the nine weeks of the summer Normal will spend, at the lowest estimate, $150. At this rate the 1100 students enrolled would spend on an average of $165,000 for their living expenses. There are 40 faculty members, each drawing an average of $150 per month of state money. This means that more than $12,000 of state money will be brought here, two-thirds of which will be spent in the city. Students buying clothing and other articles will spend at least $10 each, or more than $11,000 for clothing here. This would put expenditure of $185,000 at a reasonable estimate.

During the winter months an average of at least 300 boarding students are in attendance at the school. This would bring more than $12,000 each month to the city during the regular school season. This will cause more people to visit the city, all of whom will spend more or less money. Business and social life here at this time are both good, while in many places the schools are closed and business is dull.

The Normal is thus proving to be one of the greatest assets to the city when taken from a business standpoint, local interests say. It is also considered a great factor in improving the moral and mental life. The attention of state officials and others who are interested in schools is directed to the city through the Normal, keeping Ada in the eye of the state. Many people move here for the purpose of being near the school, causing an increase in the resident districts, it was further shown.

Gingham Frocks for Which There Is No Substitute

And yet when all is said and done gingham Frocks occupy a certain niche in the summer wardrobe that nothing else can fill. The trimmer frocks are piped and collared with pique while a more buoyant note is struck in dainty frocks combined with organdie. One notes that the plaids of other summers have given way to checks of generous dimensions and plaits and panels vie with frills and scallops for your favor. Any frock selected from this group will be a distinctive asset to your tub frock supply.

Clever Tub Frocks for Little Folks

To keep romping, rollicking youngsters sweet and clean in summertime, takes a good many Tub Frocks. In consequence, makers of clothes for Tiny Tots designed all sorts of jolly togs and plenty of them. Bloomer dresses in gay colors are a special favorite with the kiddies for they eliminate bothersome petticoats and have cunning cutouts of bunnies or chicks applied on for pockets. And surely every little girl loves ruffles and butterfly bows such as the dress-up frocks of organdie boast of.

BUILDING PROCEEDS IN SPITE OF STRIKE

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 21.—The building program of Oklahoma City contractors is not hampered to any extent by the strike of union carpenters because there is at present no extended building activity in progress, according to F. J. Kern, president of the Associated Contractors of Oklahoma City Sunday. He said that construction work of any consequence was practically at a standstill in Oklahoma City and for that reason contractors were not worrying over the unwillingness of union carpenters to adjust themselves to the new wage scale announced by contractors June 10.

The class of work now in progress Kern said, was mostly residential. There are only three or four larger pieces of work going on, he said, and added that carpenters needed for this construction were supplied from non-union ranks.

"We have experienced no trouble in finding all the carpenters we wanted," he said. "The fact that a great many non-union carpenters are out of work lessens the worries of the contractor. I believe that contractors would experience no difficulty in finding all the men they wanted if an extended building program was started at once. Nothing is tied up as a result of the carpenters strike."

chief stated today that as soon as the new truck arrived, he would discontinue using the large truck in the residence district except in cases where it was badly needed. In a News "For Sale" ad and he said it. Moral: Are you taking advantage of your opportunity?

CITY'S FIRE LOSS CUT SINCE 1920 IS REPORT

Fire loss in this city for the first six months of 1921 is considerably less than it was during the first six months of 1920, according to the fire chief's record. In 1920, 29 calls were received during the first six months with a total loss of $2,583, while the number of calls the first six months of this year has only reached 17 with a total loss of $2,200.

A new fire truck has been ordered to take the place of the little truck now being used. It will be a Dodge truck with a speed of 65 miles an hour. A powerful pump and chemical device will be its main features. As the truck will be very light, the latest and most up-to-date on the market, it is believed that the fire loss will be somewhat decreased next year.

The small truck now being used is out of date and inefficient for the hard service required by it in this city. It has seen many years of service since it came to Ada. Insurance rates probably will be considerably decreased when the new truck is received. Somer Jones, fire
